Symposium on Energy Efficient Chilled Water Production 13 July 2013 (Saturday)

The Energy Institute Hong Kong, the Ability R&D Energy Research Centre of City University of Hong Kong and the Hong Kong Association of Energy Engineers jointly organize a half-day “Symposium on Energy Efficient Chilled Water Production” on 13 July 2013 (Saturday) for their members. Others interested in the seminar are also welcome.

Brief description

Air-conditioning system is the biggest electricity consuming facility in commercial buildings in Hong Kong. Any improvement to the energy efficiency of air-conditioning systems can achieve significant energy saving and indirect reduction in fossil-fuel based air pollution emissions. Majority of energy used in space cooling is producing and distributing chilled water supply to the individual equipment. In this Half-Day Symposium, the speakers will present the latest technologies that improve the energy efficiency of air-conditioning systems.

Moderator

- Ir Dr Michael Leung, Past Chairman, Energy Institute Hong Kong / Associate Professor and Associate Dean, School of Energy and Environment, City University of Hong Kong
